Aircraftkiller You idiots don't seem to realize something. I'm not in a competition right now. I'm trying to make this game live.

You're not helping. All of these "studios" or whatever you have to "sponsor" you, what the fuck are they? One person with a logo and he calls himself a studio.

Your game modification - where's that going? Months ago it was started. No one has any information on it. No one knows what's going on with it.

What is it? It's not really a game modification. It's just some people no one knows about - trying to get people to kiss ass and look good.

This is what makes people just not care about game modifications - idiots like you. Going on a search for glory instead of working on the game. "Oh we're so big and important, look at our studio! It's a studio because we say so! We're going to do all this great stuff!" two months later "Okay we broke up!"

Just go away.

It isn't just one person. And how do you know you can see into the future.

We're not asking for someone to "Kiss our ass" we are just trying to do mods

And obviously you are making the game DIE by doing exactly this ----STARTING arguments. No one even said anything about "Sponsoring"

People have other things to do than make maps all day they have school to attend and jobs to do they can't release a map or make a model every 5 minutes.

I ask you to kindly leave this thread.

I'm going to sleep GOOD NIGHT.
