I want to congratulate you guys and commend you all on a job well done. I know some people said that these new updates would never see the light of day, but I wonder what they have to say now lol.

I know it's still in the early stages, but even the beta stage seems to have brought some old players back already, and I'm sure more will follow in time.

I've only played it for a short time and I have not had enough things go wrong to document them and bring them to your attention, but I'm sure you're getting plenty of that as is.

PS: The lag seems worse, I notice that I warp sometimes, and I know other people are experiencing the same thing. I hope it's just something small. :\
