You have to add moderators to the moderators.cfg file. If Moderators_Force_Auth is enabled you also have to make them register their own username on the server (using !add playername password) and authenticate themselves when they join (see the readme documentation for methods of doing this).

The !add and !remove commands do not add or remove moderators, they just protect your nickname from being stolen by somebody else on that server, since they would be kicked if they didnt auth with the correct password.
