Thanks for that translation Jerad Gray.

As for what ACK said, no I'm not doing the same thing. So I'll call a faggot whoever I want to call a faggot. <3

It probably took you over an hour to write whatever it is you said in your last post. It would take me over 3 to do that. There is absolutely no way that I would ever resort to writing in that retarded way.

As for my name, though, there is a story behind it. One that I do not feel like explaining... and one that I don't think anyone wants to (or would want to) hear.

It only took me about 20 seconds to type "leet translator" into Google, click the second result, then write out a response to you. Really, that's all it took. I know you like to think you're clever and all that, but it's really not that hard to write this stuff.

Fucking translators, how do they work?
