Also, almost forgot; and what happend to their website? (atomix-gaming.net) I guess its connected to the server downtime.

I did see a "atomix" server up yesterday or so when i browsed through the servers in GSA, but it was empty and surely not the same Atomix server i had marked as favourite long time ago that always used to have alot of peeps in it =|

Cheers and +respt to the host of this server whoever you are, had alot of fun there, dont play much Renegade anymore but would like to find you and give you my personal thanks for making the time i had there possible. Im prolly just very high writing this but I really miss the server^^
