Stating a convenient way of doing something than a current method is shitting on them? Last I remember, that was a suggestion.

i thought maybe that was why; if not then i haven't the slightest idea

Yet again, you assume something without gathering any facts. I made 2 post in this topic, all relating to the resource manager. Then you come out of no where stating something that isn't even relevant to any of it.

but i honestly didn't appreciate having to download a separate map pack just to join one of these servers, considering 4.0 has an auto map downloader that someone took numerous hours to create in an attempt to make it easier for players to join servers without having to download separate map packs

Hense why I pointed it out?

I was speaking for the people who don't even read these forums and he wants them to get involved in a league only a small amount know about. On top of that, a map pack that you need to download in order to participate.

I was making a suggestion. I really don't care for the league.
