The last few days come at a curious time. Renegade just turned ten.

I think it's a marvel it's lasted so long. Piss-poor administration (talking about Renegade online, not individual servers/communities), rife with cheating, script kiddies.

Yet Renegade limps its way past its tenth birthday. We have a decent anti-cheat. I say this to everybody - from this point on, let's have no more of the e-attacks. (I'm not talking about flaming here, or banning who you like from your own server; I'm talking about ddosing, flooding, hacking... call it what you like, you get my point.) No more of it, from anybody. The game's lasted as long as it has in spite of that.

Thanks.
