I'm going to add functionality to my site to support coordinated efforts on modding, skinning, anti-cheating, and anything else that TEAMS of people should be working together PEACEFULLY to do.

I agree with ACK that there are a lot of people out there looking out for fame, not the game.

Case9 is undoubtedly working on some good things, I've personally talked to a few of them more than once about their support for anti-cheats as well. They have a good thing going.

The RenGuard team has some good work in progress with anti-cheats as well.

There are also a lot of very good modders, skinners, etc out there that work alone --- who would make a WONDERFUL contribution to a team with a similiar goal.

Hopefully my project will continue to grow and coordinate all these efforts. But as ACK has said and I support ----

It needs to be for the game. Not for fame.

Tsunami Alliance is all about doing good things for Renegade and its loyal community of players. Not making a face for itself.

As an C&C loyalist since 1994 and a die-hard Renegade addict that has seen his share of elite warfare ... I've pretty much GIVEN UP my gameplay time so I can help revive the game and fix these problems.

But I need support from everyone. I cannot do this alone.

If you truly want to help the game of Renegade survive. Contact me.

And if there is ever a HOPE of seeing a Renegade 2, let's show EA that the Renegade community means business. Petitions and emails won't do it. Pouring your heart and soul into creatively enhancing the game will.
