So, yes, with your serial, they can reset the password to your nickname and use it themselves. IF the nickname was created with that serial and not your TFD serial. Sorry if I'm missing something simple here, but... your original quote appears to say they can not gain access to my account, but then you are saying they can by resetting my password?

Ah well, no matter which it is, I guess I'm not bothered by it after all. I doubt it'll even happen, and if it does, it'll be no matter to me.
