i am not saying cw.cc players suck. I think they are really good at Renegade. I am just suggesting that there are also good public players who don't warrant too much effort into this game when there is no real motive for them to do so. They just want to have fun nowadays. Yeah sure, you can prove that you are good at 2v2(or the other cw.cc matchups) competitive playing at 10 year old game. Sure, boost your ego and morale. But, that's it. Is that a big enough motive to join cw.cc? No, not really. Most people in the world who are competitive at their workplace are not competitive just because they want to boost their ego. No, they want to climb the hierarchy and get a better wage so they can buy fancy shit. Also, when most of the Renegade players have already left the game for other games, another reason why its not a good way to portray who is the best at a game based on who plays for cw.cc or not.
