

---

Subject: Re: Joejjj80 - The worst moderator in the entire world

Posted by Major-Payne on Tue, 22 May 2012 07:13:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Crimson wrote on Mon, 21 May 2012 20:40The logs don't show what led up to that. Internet trolling is bad, kids.

It doesn't matter Crimson, it really doesn't matter. A moderator should be mature, and above those things, keep his cool, and not care. A moderator is there for the players, not him/herself. Using your powers to "win" your arguments or to silence someone simply because you don't agree (rather than because that person actually bothers players and interferes with gameplay) is not good moderating, no matter how much you are being trolled or annoyed.

Don't get me wrong, joejjj is a great guy and I've always gotten along well with him, but he should not be a moderator simply because he is one of those people who don't tolerate any back talk, which can only lead to bad and impulsive decisions.

It's not good to have a moderator like that who lashes out at people at random, because he has an authority issue, when you have a game that's barely managing to survive at this point. At this point, there are only two or three major servers where people play, and any moderator abuse only kills the game faster and faster. In the past, when Ren was still very much alive, it was a server's own business what they did, since players could just move on to others, now they don't really have that option when they are used to that one server they play in.

Therefore the community has MORE than a right to complain about individual server moderators here, mainly because their impact on the game is FAR greater than in the past. In the past a moderator would only affect 1 out of 100 players with his actions in a server, now it's closer to 1 out of 3, 1 out of 2.

If you are supposedly some kind of representative of Westwood/EA (seeing as you seem to own these forums) then do your job and take action.

---