
Subject: TRTA LIVES!!!

Posted by warranto on Sat, 13 Sep 2003 01:54:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Infininthmmm, how are we suppos to get sued if we dont even use the model..... i dont know and nether dose the rest of case 9....

Generally speaking, you can create anything you want. As long as you don't distribute it, nothing can happn to you. Remember this is just generally speaking, and doesn't apply to everything.

The reason this arguement is being persued is because Adavanze keeps trying to pass of that even if it were used, nothing legal would happen against anyone. At least with my posts, I was simply trying to educate him otherwise. As with all leagal hapenings, charges are never certain, which is why we have judges to decide on an appropriate course of action and if the actions taken by the individuals in question are worthy of persuing. Again, all I was trying to say was that it could happen because the copyright was being infringed upon.
