I often shoot at spots where I know sbhs tend to hide.

Had a few kills however across the field where I randomly hit an sbh in the head.

One easy thing to do is when sbhs cloak up and run out from cover, its quite easy to predict where they will be in 2 seconds, count to to and shoot.

Then there are always the 180 key plus hs, I cool em super cool 180 degrees reflex hs's, but its mostly luck.
