
Subject: Re: The Avengers Spoilers Maybe
Posted by TheBeerinator on Sat, 23 Jun 2012 19:10:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Choices come to mind in that situation:

- Buying stock images.
- Having a friend allow you to take pictures while dressed up like that.

or what you did:

-Buy a dress, whatever that pink thing is, high heel shoes, and all of the other things that you are wearing in that image. Then go out to a public area and take pictures of yourself from a distance, which are not even good reference shots for modeling.

You aren't a female, why would you use a male for a female reference? And unless you recognized yourself as being feminine, you would have never come to that last solution, which kinda leads us right back to square one.

If you were doing a self portrait, why were you dressed up as a woman?

Also when you started that whole valentine thing, you were pretty much screwing up your relations to anyone during that time, all just to mess with me? bullshit.

Did you try "trolling" whoever posted the cross dressing images on the APB forums in the first place, only for it to backfire horribly?

It's a shitty troll if it ends up messing you up more in the end.

This all sounds pretty ridiculous, like made up ridiculous.
