You know, I actually agree with this. The artists over there are very nice: most of them actually wanted AircraftKiller to rejoin the team back in 2011. It's the leadership and Good Ol' Boys/Girls that are the problem. I mean, look at this thread. You don't see Chopbam, you don't see Renardin, Spice, Danpaul, Mick/Volkov, or anyone else involved in the actual production of the game contributing drama. (Don't start giving me the talk about Presets, I am working on them right now for a map)

I congratulate your move to a more mature level, wallywood. Even though it was, a little late. I mean, we already redirected your site. But I think you and the rest of the leaders owe us an apology: An apology to aircraftkiller for the drama caused at BHP. An apology to crimson for the move. And an apology to the entire RenForums community, for causing this 16 17 page fiasco.
