i feel incredibly dumb in asking this, but:

have you ever wondered if you just might be wrong? does the fact that people get on your case about things never suggest to you that, possibly, you aren't making sense, or that you're just incorrect? i honestly don't think it has instead, you claim that everyone is out to get you or just ganging up on you just because what they're saying doesn't coincide with what you believe doesn't mean they're automatically wrong; i'm not sure what makes you think you're an all-knowing Rene-hero in shining armor, always standing up for what's right and always being wronged by the masses

i'm not lying to you; i have no reason to you should know that by now
