Not THAT old, but from 2008, back of the Days of a non-lagging european Marathon Server with RenCom. Azazel should remember a few of the Names up there

I do indeed remember.

Back then I was in -?- I remember recruiting Gollom. He was such a nice guy. There must be 5 that I don't remember from that list and i haven't seen them since. The fun thing about RCM Marathon is that after the 1 hour time frame cAMpa encouraged more aow play by disabling the base defenses, giving you ions/nukes and creating ion storms which did damage to your buildings. Pretty much always made the marathon side of things come to a end, one way or the other. The likes of Jelly where you can play a single map for 5hrs...fuck that. But all marathon's are pretty boring now - that's why I turned back to aow.

I still remember you and supi getting me and majid to say offensive gay German words...lol
