Subject: My personal concerns, and opinions about 'RenGuard'.
Posted by Halo38 on Sun, 14 Sep 2003 13:49:50 GMT

As far as i'm concerned fl00d3d your the new guy in the community, you may have all your experience and what not, but just to walk in to a community that already has a structure and a way of doing things and start ordering them around demanding source code and what ever you want, because you see yourself as a superior, is certainly not the way to do things.

The current rengaurd team can complete this task without you (easily) so live with it. also congratulations on single handedly turning the rengaurd forums in to an unoffical flaming forum

Evaluation: Just STFU