He was getting "screen out of focus" errors on the console and he was running Win XP SP2..

I've noticed that you get the screen out of focus error when someone is running as windowed. But you should only be receiving this error if they don't have Renegade open on the screen at that moment, if they was on Firefox or something for instance.

Plus, I've heard the story that he's running a pirated version of Windows xp, so am I and !sshot function works fine on me.
