

---

Subject: Ak-74U Model **New Render**

Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Sun, 14 Sep 2003 23:40:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

TheatrrapSir PhoenixxTheatrrapYou said that that thing that connects is a grenade launcher but it is way too small. It looks much more like a detachable handgun.

You're about 5 posts too late. That is a grenade launcher, a fucking ugly POS grenade launcher to be exact. We all know Russia is incapable of making anything that doesn't look ugly (except for a few fighter jets).

Go up and read, he posted a few pictures to it and a link to the AK site.

I saw those pics. In those pics it doesnt look like a grendae launcher. Just look at it. It even shows a bullet next to the barrel.

So it's not a grenade launcher because you don't think it looks like one? Did you even go to that site? :rolleyes:

They are bullets! A bullet is just a projectile fired from a firearm, it's size, use, speed, etc. has nothing to do with rather or not it's a bullet.

---