So, vodka has, for some odd reason, made me remember about renegade, and then these forums.

I think the train of thought was along the lines of my fyp, and what gives a game longevity, and then I remembered how renegade has been a live for a while, against all odds.

So hello all. Anyone actually remember me?

Ooh, still got my viva la resistance title, aren't I special?

Registered 2006??? Oh my days. I was only 15 back then.

I just remembered....Someone from the APB either goes or went to Staffordshire university. I swear I met someone that works/worked on that during my freshers week.
