The iBuypower's 5400RPM HD is lame. Even sillier when you realize they put in a 'Bigfoot' NIC which is of dubious value.

The Samsung has two HD's. That means you can take one out of its bay and replace it with an SSD, something that I think is necessary for anyone spending that kind of money for a gaming PC, let alone a laptop. Many are getting below the $1 per 1GB when on sale.
