

---

Subject: Re: What is your dream ride?

Posted by TEAM MDK on Thu, 18 Oct 2012 07:30:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

nikki6ixx wrote on Wed, 17 October 2012 17:43l don't think those existed in North America. The 650-single class is pretty much owned by the KLR 650.

Never been an off-road guy. My dad was all about travelling in the country but I've always been a city-slicker. Not sure I want to take a Buell onto a logging road. I'd have to walk home.

yeah I think you would walk home lol but would say in dirt you wouldnt get to far with slick road tyres .

we have lots of soggy soil/dirt over here so off roading is great fun and one of the best ways to see the country side.

this is my fav spot Stanage Edge . Peak District National Park

<http://www.stanageedge.co.uk/gallery.html>

---