...except that AR is not developed by the same team as APB and TS:Reborn. Yeah, they share artists, coders, and testers, but it ends there.

Public Relations is held (quite expertly) by Dtrngd. While regular updates aren't so common anymore, at least he is trying. I don't see him working for the other projects (even though he probably should)

Game Design is handled by OWA, who doesn't do anything for the other projects. Unlike the other project leaders, he also does something significant for the game, as he models up stuff, including characters. So I rather like him, he is probably the best person in the entire team.
