I am back in business.

The guy couldn't figure out exactly what the problem was but basically I am out $154 for a new power supply and for fixing things plus an old hard disk (which didn't contain anything important that I can remember) is probably faulty or dead (and not worth messing with)

Will need to spend some time getting back up to speed on things and doing a long-overdue backup but I will be getting back to 4.0 once that's covered.
