i know MDK still reads these forums, so i'll reply to him here the initial ban on MDK was actually made by me, and there were multiple reasons behind it even prior to the cheating incident (which shaitan still claims is true and MDK claims is bullshit), he was being closely watched due to his behavior the way he engaged other players was pretty rude; he was extremely vulgar and overly hostile and violent for little to no reason at all, and i could see why other servers had had a problem with him i heard multiple instances of what he did at other communities and to people on Facebook (he's still basically e-stalking people now), and thought it would be best for my player base and general public to not have to deal with the guy are those reasons unjustified? based on everything he's done since then (including posting he wants to tie the Jelly staff up in the woods and ass rape everyone on it), i'd say i made a good decision i'm glad he's moderating and apparently doing a good job over at MPF, but he can stay there as far as i'm concerned tell him to feel free to back up his over 100 k/d claims over with any sort of evidence, and also ask him politely for a list of players banned from Jelly for no reason
