Well, that was some nasty stuff to read. Assuming that your (ani's) imaginary friends have basically betrayed him (if everything ani said is true, even about donations spend on his mom, not drug$), things are even worse that I could imagine. I mean, fuck, he's been with this community ever since it was founded (or at least as it seems from the outside). If everything said here is true then Trojan (and whoever else's name was there, Volcom or something) are real disgrace of a human being. Money rules the world, people mean nothing. Not really happy to see another community tearing apart.
