I'm waiting to get a point and shoot. No special photography goals for me. Now to just see if I can't get the camera bid to remain low on eBay.

Idiots really don't care to wait until the last minute to bid. No, they do it hours early... and now the camera is too high for me. Meh.

I know right?! The idiots NEVER learn. I see eBay idiots who have been there for YEARS with lots of feedback still bid early 4-5 days before the listing ends?!

Is there not one brain cell or a neural network inside their heads that would suddenly light up like a Christmas tree and tell them they they are idiots for doing it? Bunch of apes.

Good lord, let's think about HOW MUCH money we would all have saved if those idiots waited for the full 6 days of the listing and then dropped their bombs with 10 seconds remaining! But NO! No, No, No...idiots HAVE TO bid early making other monkey-see-monkey-do idiots to throw in their bids as well.

If Earth was a spaceship, I would have those rascals thrown out the airlock!
