And instead of drinking that water they should go out and buy over expensive bottled water
Of course, they will probably go broke from all the money it costs to get questionable quality bottled water.

Thats not what im saying at all people need to go and push our governments to remove it from the water (seeing as they control the water supply) and remind them that we control their ability to be in office. Right now people wont do anything no matter what crimes they commit, the FBI was a perfect example of this, and they have gotten no heat over that at all.
