Or do anything, I'm sure Olaf could sue the guy for costing him money (IE he paid to host the server, run the power, and then some random troll is blocking the network).

Just make sure not to pay him, that makes it worth it after all.

If he called in a BotNet to do the shitty work for him, you have up to 0% chance to catch him since its other services doing the work for him. Might give Wilo/Tiny a Headsup, they can prolly explain better to you how to Ddos a network.

Theoretically yes, but I think he did actually expose his real IP
