It's not Cronus, he never had access to the domain names but before I sold the domain name (full access to the account, info changed) to Trojan we had it on the registrar's nameservers and had custom DNS rules set to Cronus's server.

Whatever happened on Trojans end probably tried parking back on the registrar's domain name and activated the DNS rules?

I've been getting blamed for this from the get and I didn't even know about this until 3 days ago lol, everytime I get on IRC to talk its either nite-serv or mp-gaming and you can ask them i'm never around anymore. I truly don't care about what you guys do on this game i'm so over the bullshit and drama that it's not even worth it. But as it seems this game just brought 2 people back to the forums for more of it lol
