Easiest way to end this retarded argument.

Ani if people actually liked you and thought you were a good leader how come 99.9% of people at Rencorner stuck by Trojan.

Also "When Animoski ran shit, he had just 2 games running - Renegade and Minecraft and still managed to pull in more traffic to the website than Volcom has been able to with his rampid advertising, social nerd media, running up costs with stupid game servers, etc". I've been doing the social media and advertising part with Hero and Frozen to promote new games we get into and to attract more people, not one single cent has been spent on that, so get your facts right you moron. Absolutely nothing wrong with having a popular ren server along with many other popular games.

Looking forward to seeing your new community though and how good it will be.
