Ethenal wrote on Tue, 15 July 2014 05:19^ what he said, just download the newest version of RenList and you should be set.

for future reference you can go to our forums at <http://jelly-server.com>

This is correct. I was mistaken, I was using RenList v1.0.3

I have now downloaded the latest version of RenList - v1.07. I now have a new problem: the connect button does not work, and when I double click on a server I get an error message that says "Renegade executable does not exist." After I got this error, I went back to RenList v1.0.3 and that has no such error message.... but then I have the same problem, no Jelly.

So now, I have 2 versions of RenList on my computer. 1.0.3 where I cannot view / connect to the Jelly server, and 1.07 where I can see all the servers, but cannot connect to any of them. Any ideas?

Thanks in advance!

Under renlist goto options->settings then just set your Renegade Executable to the location of your renegade.exe
