I don't have the android source with me right now, but I attached the prototype I built before the Android app. The protoype was thrown together really quickly & sloppily, so don't expect it to follow good Java practices or standards . It basically just contacts the replacement GameSpy Arcade master server ( master-gsa.renlist.n00b.hk / renmaster.cncirc.net ) and gets the servers from there. I also attached the GameSpy protocol spec, but be warned that some things might not work according to the spec.

Hahaha! that's amazing!
