It looks alright. It looks very simple.

Make all of the left and right blocks the same size (like 150 pixels (or the width of the widest block)

Align everything in the center, it just looks messed up when you have everything except for the ads aligned to the left.

Put the same blue border around the title banner

Thanks!!!
And negative constructive criticism is not flaming.

If you take everything that isn't a complement as flaming than you shouldn't be showing stuff off in the first place.
