Krazyfoxx Damn Shaft, I only have to work four days a week and I wouldn't have time to do that much gaming I'm going to go apply to UPS

Damn I wish I have alot of time to play videogames. I'm always busy with work, weightlifting and training. I only get like a hour and a half a day to play videogames. So I just like choose what games I'm going to play every day. Is it going to be arcades for a Hour and a half, PS2 for and hour and a half, gamecube, etc. I just choose which one everyday.

But see I'm on 2 weeks paid vacation now. So I have alot more free time on my hand.

But there is one game I play at work that is fun. Truck racing. Yes its actually what it sounds like. Now kids, do not try this at home. ME and one of my friends on our break time would go, and each get a truck with a trailer attached. And we'll get on the Highway here in Chicago and race the Trucks down the highway. AND ITS REALLY FUN. Especially talking on the radio to other truckers. Hehehehe... Matter of fact I talk to alot of Truckers in Wiscousin.

But I have to say, do not try Truck racing at home. Its VERY dangerous and costs alot of money if you destroy a Truck. I should know. If you're a professional driver like I am and you work for a Multi Billion dollar Corpatation that can afford it.
