
Subject: Re: Shooting from apc while riding shotgun??
Posted by JiggakoZz on Tue, 30 Sep 2003 22:49:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

t1000n1It happened to me only once...i hopped into an apc for a rush and i was a pic. I noticed my view was a little screwed up..almost like it was in first person view when i was in it. And i could shoot infantry and tanks while i was in the apc. It was quite amusing as i never seen that before.

Yes, that's a Vet trick that not many people know...

It's true value lies in the fact that you can repair yourself and shoot while your in the drivers seat.

Good luck trying to figure out to aim it right, or even get in it consistently.....

That one took me a loooooooooong time to master.
