Sir PhoenixxPlease show me any other commercial game development company that doesn't do it just for money.

I'm an aspiring game developer (who obviously isn't anywhere, so you couldn't call me commercial), but neither I nor the people helping me with the game I'm working on right now expect it to rake in sacks of money (if it even gets close to being published..ever), but anyhow...Have hope, there's still some people who want to make games simply for the sake of making them, not for getting rich
