Yeah this poped up earlier asking me to install it. It's not unusual for a patch to be released to fix a patch. It happens all the time in Planetside, they patch the game then end up patching it again next time as the previous one made loads of bugs.

It makes you wonder how it happens, currently the beta patch for Planetside has bugged all the vehicles so the tracks and wheels don't move when the vehicles does however they work at the moment in the last patch so they obviously did something to bust it.