
Subject: Community, Im Soo Sorry!

Posted by CNCWarpath on Fri, 10 Oct 2003 14:10:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes recent weeks ive been doing so much on my own due to the lack of staff working , im leaving because the mod was anticipated and i feel i have let the community down so much the only right move to do would be to leave.

I have used several programs before and they all failed so no point, the team only has models and that from a while ago, which recently we remade for better appearance.

I turned on my computer to find every windows file deleted, now i only have access to this computer and i have pc knowlage of 5 years so i am not that stupid, my pc has a PC Format option as many hp users will know.

I want the community to be strong because it needs and deserves to be more than it is, no matter what ill still be checkin on the forums looking at awsome new stuff coming out for Renegade, as for Generals , it can go to hell, the same as EA.

I played a good role in the community , it had its ups and downs but my time in it was more than fun, i did stress that if u ever need to talk to my i supplied my email on the site cncgenocide@aol.com .

I dont want Pity , ive left and thats it.
