Subject: sigh what has the community come to?
Posted by Javaxcx on Mon, 13 Oct 2003 22:26:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MetaPhysicalhmmmmmmmm ok I just reread the FUD server rules... so this is a question for java.

Could I have mistakenly been evicted from the server because it looked like I was being a fatty? Because I am a very good apache and orca pilot and tend not to lose them while gaining a lot of points, thus giving me a phenomenal amount of credits, and possibly making me look like I was sitting in the base and hording them.

No. You misunderstood the rule in it's totality. I'm not explaining or giving you, or anyone else a reason for being banned from our servers, because we do not owe you one.

We have our own reasons, and if we want to share them with anyone, we'll do so of our own accord. 9/10ths of the people here don't like that policy, but we could really care less what their opinions of us are.

Remember, there is no such thing as an unjust ban on any FUD server, and no "mockingly" rhetoric conclusions that anyone makes about that change that truth.