Renxl have a question. In Reloaded, when they were at the french guys place(aovigian, or sumthing like that), It showed neo seeing everything like the computer screens on their ship. Does he see like this all the time?

When they see the Matrix on the monitors in the ship, they're seeing it in code. So, when they show Neo seeing things like this in the Matrix, it's representative of the fact that he can "look past the illusion" and see things for what they really are.
