I bought the old homestead from my parents over eight years ago and I've been working on it ever since. Wish I'd known then what a money pit it was going to be, I probably would have started from scratch. Oh well, it will be paid off in less than two years with a new roof, wiring, boiler, windows, doors, siding, insulation, drywall, paint, carpet..... practically a new house. I have a boy who will be three in Feb. and I'm mainly concentrating on his room now. I'm hoping to be done with all of it by the time it's paid off so we can sell and build a new one. I've done all the work myself so I've saved a lot of money but it takes forever.

Funny how easy it is to get off topic Anyway, have a great day Vet's
