Starting late Friday night, The Pits began running two servers side by side on WOL. This was simply because it was a holiday weekend, and I wanted to make sure the new server was stable before the actual switch.

On Monday morning, the original Pits Server that was up during the evenings and weekends will be retired, and a new 24x7 server will take its place.

The server host will now be 'pitsrva' just so you know that it is indeed us.
