

---

Subject: There are no...

Posted by ProMakeShift on Mon, 22 Dec 2003 07:00:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There are no stupid questions, just stupid answers.

I really admire you for asking such a question, especially if you are a moderate or exceptional mapper. That encourages others to ask similar questions instead of using up hours on finding some element that would suite the map. Instead of searching for a element, ask, continue on another map and then return to find out that you can find it here and simply click on the link. Saves a lot of time for the mapper and active community members probably find a tutorial a lot faster when they know where to look and therefore maybe rewarded with a map.

I hope you continue to ask and help others that do...

---