What you are seeing is about eight people running one player servers. They're running around in-game, alone.

That's not saying much for anyone.

What makes it worse is that if you try to play it online without being the host of the game, it crashes for you 75% of the time. If you're the host, it still crashes about 40% of the time upon level load.

Watch and see. They shot themselves in the head.
