

---

Subject: North Korea Now Making Nukes :(
Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Mon, 29 Dec 2003 01:12:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There is no such thing as a sucky nuclear weapon...

Although it would be nice if North Korea had NO nuclear devices instead of two...I wouldn't trust that crazy dictator with anything more dangerous than a moldy pot roast...and here goes the U.S. and invades Iraq because there are supposedly "Weapons of Mass Destruction" [A phrase the Bush administration has thrown around waaay too much these days...] in the country...At least it would have been worth our while to invade North Korea...considering the fact that NO "Weapons of Mass Destruction" have been found in Iraq, [I will bet my soul that the Bush administration finds "Weapons of Mass Destruction" right before the election] even though conservative talk shows always say they have. One time a U.S. reporter or someone of the sort found anthrax antidote in a hospital and published a huge story about how the army was hot on the tail of "Weapons of Mass Destruction". Now, I would be inclined to believe this story if not for the fact that ALMOST EVERY HOSPITAL HAS ANTIDOTES FOR ANTHRAX, ESPECIALLY SO NOWADAYS!!!!.

---