Subject: Computer issues...help?

Today I bought a new hard drive because my old one was running out of space. I installed it alright, did everything alright, and it came out alright. The only problem is that the drive does not appear in My Computer or anything. The BIOS setup shows the HD, the hardware manager in XP shows it too, but I cannot select it or anything...I can't defrag it, clean it, format it or do anything because it doesn't seems to exist.

My computer works fine, it's just that I can't seem to install the drive.

Any help/tips?
