mrpiratel think we both know that an argument over the Internet isn't worth physically fighting for. Of course not. If this were to happen in a bar or in a public area, both of us would prolly be arrested. I would of rather seen that this subject didnt get into an argument from anyone on here. But, of course it did. I would of rather had a civil discussion and have people point out the pros/cons. But, once again that did not happen.

But be forewarned, if you ever come to my house selling vacuums, theres going to be a nice greeting. *Year is -(2009)- Mr.Pirate walks to my door. "Hello sir would you like to buy a vacuum." Wait, your Mr.Pirate? "Yes".....Well do you remember that topic a long time ago about homosexuals?....."No" smacks him Do you now?* <<<-----SARCASM! Just a little joke....trying to lighten the air up in here.
