warranto

Once again, the sale of goods and services does not have to be in exchange of money. Any other form of "reward" can also be acceptable,.

see this is where you fuck up, your entire post is meaningless because your assuming something and hoping it to be true, "reward" is some bullshit you made up, its not legal tender.

Renmaps.com isn't selling anything to the public, hence the use of "renmaps" in other places cases is entirely acceptable. Nor can you claim any right to renmaps.net because trademarks do not cover owning domain names, e.g. why someone can own <http://www.dodgeviper.com> and dodge the company can't do anything about it.

Unlike you I provided hard facts, your argument is bases upon your stupid assumption which is WRONG, once again. Give it up, and move on silly man. :twisted:
